Greetings Sisters and Siblings,

We hope you enjoyed our first three curated lists and took the time to review the collections. In Fall 2018, we launched the LTA Reads National Book Club to explore universal narratives.

Women's History Month is a month-long celebration of women's contributions to history, culture, and society first observed in the United States in 1987. While women were not always credited for their contributions to history, we certainly can see their lasting impacts through the written word; and we want to celebrate some of our own that are contributing to the written tradition. We invite you to join us as we explore the written word's universal narratives, as told by our very own LTA Authors.

The National Book Club is excited to share the LTA Curated Reading List, Volume IV, as we continue to celebrate the universal identities that exist within Lambda Theta Alpha. As always, we encourage you to support local shops and bookstores. If you are interested in sharing your publication, please use the link below, so that we can continue to update our library.
